Define:

Schema –

Assimilation –

Accomodation –

Questions: Given the schema presented and the scenario, predict how one might interpret the information if they were assimilating or accommodating.

Schema – Everything with wheels is a truck.
Scenario – Child is presented with a bicycle.
If he assimilates, he might think…

If he accommodates, he might think …

Schema – Freshmen are stupid and goofy.
Scenario – A ninth-grader in your Spanish III class gives an eloquent presentation of the Spanish-American War.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – My parents don't know what it is like to be a teenager.
Scenario – Your grandmother tells you a story about your mother's rebellious teenage years.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think …

Schema – Christopher Columbus was a heroic man who discovered America.
Scenario – You read an article in US History about how Columbus and other early settlers mistreated Native Americans.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – I cannot relate to people of different races or ethnicities because we are so different.
Scenario – You room with someone from a different race in college and find out that you have a lot more in common than you have differences.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Define:

Schema –

Assimilation –

Accomodation –

Questions: Given the schema presented and the scenario, predict how one might interpret the information if they were assimilating or accommodating.

Schema – Everything with wheels is a truck.
Scenario – Child is presented with a bicycle.
If he assimilates, he might think…

If he accommodates, he might think …

Schema – Freshmen are stupid and goofy.
Scenario – A ninth-grader in your Spanish III class gives an eloquent presentation of the Spanish-American War.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – My parents don't know what it is like to be a teenager.
Scenario – Your grandmother tells you a story about your mother's rebellious teenage years.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think …

Schema – Christopher Columbus was a heroic man who discovered America.
Scenario – You read an article in US History about how Columbus and other early settlers mistreated Native Americans.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – I cannot relate to people of different races or ethnicities because we are so different.
Scenario – You room with someone from a different race in college and find out that you have a lot more in common than you have differences.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Define:

Schema –

Assimilation –

Accomodation –

Questions: Given the schema presented and the scenario, predict how one might interpret the information if they were assimilating or accommodating.

Schema – Everything with wheels is a truck.
Scenario – Child is presented with a bicycle.
If he assimilates, he might think…

If he accommodates, he might think …

Schema – Freshmen are stupid and goofy.
Scenario – A ninth-grader in your Spanish III class gives an eloquent presentation of the Spanish-American War.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – My parents don't know what it is like to be a teenager.
Scenario – Your grandmother tells you a story about your mother's rebellious teenage years.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think …

Schema – Christopher Columbus was a heroic man who discovered America.
Scenario – You read an article in US History about how Columbus and other early settlers mistreated Native Americans.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – I cannot relate to people of different races or ethnicities because we are so different.
Scenario – You room with someone from a different race in college and find out that you have a lot more in common than you have differences.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Define:

Schema –

Assimilation –

Accomodation –

Questions: Given the schema presented and the scenario, predict how one might interpret the information if they were assimilating or accommodating.

Schema – Everything with wheels is a truck.
Scenario – Child is presented with a bicycle.
If he assimilates, he might think…

If he accommodates, he might think …

Schema – Freshmen are stupid and goofy.
Scenario – A ninth-grader in your Spanish III class gives an eloquent presentation of the Spanish-American War.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – My parents don't know what it is like to be a teenager.
Scenario – Your grandmother tells you a story about your mother's rebellious teenage years.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think …

Schema – Christopher Columbus was a heroic man who discovered America.
Scenario – You read an article in US History about how Columbus and other early settlers mistreated Native Americans.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…

Schema – I cannot relate to people of different races or ethnicities because we are so different.
Scenario – You room with someone from a different race in college and find out that you have a lot more in common than you have differences.
If you assimilate, you might think…

If you accommodate, you might think…